THE TAX WAIL

There has been a continuous wail in this State for many years regarding taxation, but we may shortly discover that up to the time proposed legislation is enacted we just didn't know anything at all about taxes.

The chief drawback to the conduct of a commonwealth and its multifarious activities is that it takes money to make the government wheels turn around. Those who were not the owners of property rather prided themselves that they were escaping any impost, but when the sales tax plan was inaugurated, how they did holler! However it may shortly develop that they cried before they were really hurt. The fact is that no one has been damaged to any great extent by the sales tax and although it is not a perfect piece of revenue-raising machinery, it has been very effective and brought in to the State's coffers many millions of dollars. If the law could be so amended as to remove the tax on food, then just ground for complaint would not exist.

THE SLACKERS

Most of the outcry against it has come from such sources as would squeal against any measure having for its object the support of their government. The truth is that any contribution to the support of the State is viewed by them as unjust and tyrannical.

ONLY ONE SOURCE

With the legacy deficit of $30,000,000 and nearly $100,000,000 deficit in prospect for the biennium ending June 30, 1936, staring the State square in the face, it is essential that something must be done. Money only comes from one source and that is taxation. What the form of that taxation will be is yet to be determined, but a number of the legislators at Sacramento have ideas on the subject.

Army Airplane Squadron Bombs S. F. In Attack

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 12.—Thirty-nine speedy pursuit planes, attached to the U. S. Army's 17th Pursuit Squadron, "bombed" San Francisco this afternoon and "attacked" the Golden Gate Bridge.

But the "bombing" was done with harmless smoke charges and the "attack" on the span site was merely a grim display of what might happen if a hostile air fleet attacked the city.

Thousands of San Franciscans crowded roof-tops to watch the display, which was carried out under the direction of Maj. Henry F. Arnold, commander of the 17th Pursuit Squadron. Capt. Ira Baker directed the flight, which was designed as a training flight by army officials.

The group, among the army's fastest and most deadly units, left March Field at Riverside early today and landed at their temporary base at Hamilton Field, in Marin County, two and a half hours later.

George E. Gamble of 1431 Waverley street, Palo Alto, gave two scholarships of approximately $600 annually and $17,000 to endow them.

Four thousand dollars was anonymously donated to the school of medicine, the money to be used by Dr. Harry A. Syckoff in further studies of blood diseases.

BRUNO PAL HUNTED BY POLICE

SEEK FRIEND WHO LIVED NEAR LINDY

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 12.—UP—Bruno Richard Hauptmann, on trial for the murder of the Lindbergh baby, had a friend who owned a chicken farm within ten yards of the Sourdland mountain home of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, the United Press learned tonight.

Prosecution lawyers went to work immediately to find out how the farm was bought and who put up the money. New and sensational testimony is expected to result.

HANDLED MONEY

There is a man in Germany who is badly frightened because of his former friendship with the Bronx carpenter. He believes he handled some of the ransom money, and that when he sold his small cobbler's shop in Yorkville he was paid for it at least in part, with money that came from the package delivered by "Jasie" to the man identified as Hauptmann.

He has written to friends in America—particularly those with whom Hauptmann chummed—asking their advice, commenting on the strange developments of the past four months, and hoping he will "not get into a jam" because of his alleged innocent part in the transaction.

REVEALED TRIP

He has also revealed that on a trip through the United States with Hauptmann, a third friend was told something so sensational by the man accused of murdering the Lindbergh baby that the friend thereafter shunned the prisoner.

For years there was a little group of friends which included Hans Kloppeburg, August Reiger, (Continued on Page 8)

BUDGET FOR STATE WILL BE PREPARED

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 12.—The 1935-37 state budget will soon be ready for presentation to the state legislature, Governor Frank McLean announced today.

Budget requests, including fixed charges and items asked by various departments, total $365,000,000. Finance Director A. E. Stockburger declared that at least $49,000,000 will be slashed from the requested amounts.

RAY OF HOPE

In addition to the $268,000,000 about $115,000,000 from self sustaining funds has been asked. At the same time Controller R. L. Riley stated that the expected deficit of June 30, 1935, would be around $28,000,000, instead of an estimated $30,000,000 or $32,000,000.

This improvement in the State's fiscal condition is due to increases in the income from inheritance taxes; bank and corporate taxes; highway taxes; the sales tax; truck taxes; public utility and insurance levies, and miscellaneous revenues, amounting to $3,348,000 more than estimates of two years ago.

SEES SOME HOPE

Riley said that if the Legislature will balance the budget on the basis of present revenues and then enact suggested new taxes to meet additional needs, the State's financial situation will be satisfactorily worked out.

When the Legislature meets again Monday another flood of bills on taxation will be ready for introduction. Already several State income tax proposals are before the Assembly and Senate.

ANOTHER PROBE

A brand new investigation resolution will be presented by Assemblyman William Mosley Jones, Democrat, Montebello. He wants to have the Assembly appropriate $2,000 and authorize a probe into the activities of "participation trusts."

Judge Upholds The Indictment Of Buron Fitts

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12.—(UP)—Superior Judge Pat R. Parker today upheld the legality of an indictment which charged District Attorney Buron Fitts and his sister, Bertha Grezory, with giving perjured testimony before the grand jury.

Judge Parker also upheld the legality of the 1924 grand jury, the subject of a bitter attack by Fitts' attorneys who charged Superior Judge Fletcher Bowron "hand-picked the jury to get Fitts."

Fitts and his sister were ordered to appear before Judge Parker at 9:30 a. m. Monday to enter their pleas. They had sought delay.

Four Year Old Child Ill From Poisoned Liquor

FRESNO, Jan. 12.—UP—Poisoned liquor hastily hidden beneath a house by bootleggers fearing a raid was blamed by police today for the serious illness of a four-year-old boy, Charles Price.

The child was found screaming beneath a house here. When he was intoxicated, according to police, Mrs. Mildred Price, took him to the county hospital, where he was found to be suffering from acute alcoholism poisoning.

The liquor apparently had been left by previous tenants of the house, which officers said, had been occupied by bootleggers.

The date will be set at this session for the annual convention which will be fixed for sometime between June and July of this year.

FLIER LANDS AT OAKLAND IN 18 HOURS

OAKLAND, Jan. 12.—(UP)—Amelia Earhart landed her biplane here today to receive a triumphal ovation over the Hawaiian Islands.

The wheels of Miss Earhart's red biplane touched the ground at Oakland Airport at 1:30 p. m., after approximately 2,000 miles, most of which she had flown alone before dawn, during which she had a police escort to cheer her.

The time for the flight, the first solo hop from Honolulu to the mainland, was 18 hours and 17 minutes.

WAS ALONE

Captain Charles K. Ingham-Smith, Australian, made the trip three hours and 16 minutes faster than the American woman, but he had the benefit of a navigator, who served as co-pilot at this time.

Miss Earhart, after several hours of struggle with a heavy fog which slowed her, even caused fear that she was lost off the California coast, appeared suddenly at the rear of the field here.

She "set down" her plane without circling the field, eliminating the swooning flourishes with which many celebrated flyers elect to end flights over land or sea.

GLAD TO LAND

Miss Earhart's first words when she stepped from the plane were: "Well, I'm sure glad to be on land again."

The crowd roared approval when Miss Earhart's curly head appeared above the cockpit. She smiled and waved as the plane's motor idled.

First Week The Hardest Says DeLap

"It is the old saying, 'The first hundred years are the hardest in the life of man,' then it is my opinion that the first week is the hardest in the life of a legislator," T. H. DeLap, assemblyman from this county declared yesterday.

"The nine days are taken up with the formalities of organization and things really have not taken shape and form during that period. Until the appointment of committees, the machinery does not actually get into effective motion. It is true a few bills and resolutions are introduced but these do not provide an index of the character of the legislation which ultimately will come before the body for consideration.

"Naturally the subject uppermost in the minds of everyone is taxation and as part of that subject, how the money is going to be raised, and from what sources to keep the State going on an even financial keel. I rather from what I hear that there will be solutions offered. However, in deference to the governor these tax brain children have been kept out of sight, as he has said that his message will point out ways and means to effectuate the desired end. In that event it is hardly likely they will see the light of a legislative day.

"With the reconvening of the legislature after its week-end adjournment, and the naming of committees, I anticipate that things will calm down to a working basis and then we will have a definite program with a definite objective in view."

U. S. Chamber to Open War Upon Bonus Payment

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(UP)—The United States Chamber of Commerce, through its membership, sought today to bring pressure to bear on Congress to defeat immediate payment of the Soldiers' Bonus. Harrison called upon them "to give immediate and vigorous expression of your views to your Senators and Representatives in Congress."

HITLER WILL MAKE ENTRY AFTER POLL

BERLIN, Jan. 12.—(UP)—Nazi Germany made ready today to welcome the Saar back into the Fatherland after 15 years of separation.

Supremely confident that the result of tomorrow's plebiscite will be the return of the rich little territory to Germany, Nazi authorities planned a triumphal entry into Saarbrücken by Adolf Hitler and other leaders as soon as title in the territory is vested in Germany by the League of Nations.

VOTE AT 8 A. M.

SAARBRÜCKEN, Jan. 12.—(UP)—Voting in the Saar plebiscite will begin at 8 a. m. tomorrow. Saarlanders, residents and former residents who have come from all over the world, will decide whether the Saar shall revert to Germany, remain under the League of Nations rule or become French.

Ballot counting will be started in the early hours of Monday morning and the result will be announced around 8 a. m. Tuesday.

100 PER CENT POLL SEEN

More than 530,000 persons will be eligible to vote, and almost a 100 per cent poll is expected.

The decision to announce the result of the vote Tuesday was prompted by fear that immediate announcement might lead to riots because of popular excitement.

APPEAL-MADE

GENEVA, Jan. 12.—The League of Nations Council today addressed an appeal to the Saar populace to remain calm during and after tomorrow's plebiscite.

It was indicated that the council would decide next week on the disposition of the Saar, and observers predicted that a majority in the plebiscite for Germany would result in the allotment of the entire territory to Germany.

Farley Seen As Film Czar When Will Hays Quits

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—The Washington Post says James A. Farley, Postmaster General, is being mentioned as a possible successor to Will Hays as "czar" of the movies.

There are reports, the paper says, that a movement is gaining headway to supplant Hays as president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors in favor of some one more acceptable to President Roosevelt.

Nicholas Schenck and Harry M. Warner, the reports continue, have obtained a commanding position on this organization's board and Hays' displacement, the Post heard, is only a matter of time.

The reports were simultaneous with the announcement of the indictment at St. Louis of 10 motion picture companies and six individuals in what the Post interpreted as the Roosevelt Administration's first major drive against alleged violators of antitrust laws.

China Seeking Foreign Loans

SHANGHAI, Jan. 12.—Dr. H. H. Kung, nationalist government finance minister, admitted today that China "needs and would welcome financial cooperation from abroad" to help stabilize her weakened monetary system.

Kung's statement followed reports that the Chinese government was negotiating with British banks for a loan, having failed to secure positive American cooperation.

BABE RUTH IS GIVEN PRAISE BY OLD CONNIE

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 12.—(UP)—Connie Mack hasn't the least idea what Babe Ruth will do in 1935, but he's certain he knows the ultimate destiny of baseball's great one.

Connie, just returned from his Oriental barnstorming tour, leaned back in his swivel chair and talked for half an hour about baseball in general and the Babe in particular. "Babe will be a big league manager one day," Mack said. "More than that, he will be a great manager. I'll tell you why. The Babe is a natural born leader of men. I have never known him otherwise."

Mack pointed out that he had known Ruth for more than 20 years. "But," he added, "until I made this trip with him to Japan, China and the Philippines I never knew him personally."

"Ruth was the big star of the trip," the manager said. "He paid their money to see, and yet he was as easy to handle as a rookie, always deferring to the wishes of the rest of the players, and always standing aside to let his mates get their share of the applause. I've never enjoyed traveling with a player more than with Babe."

Connie reiterated his denial that Ruth was being considered as an immediate successor to himself as manager of the Philadelphia Athletics.

"I mean it when I say I intend to continue to manage until I'm 80," he said. "I don't know what other possibilities may be open for the Babe, and I wouldn't go into them anyway."

"You know there's one thing about the Babe that I think is generally overlooked. We all think of him in terms of home run hitting. That's all right, of course, but equally important is the fact that Ruth is a smart player. I suppose I've seen him hit at least 200 times, and I can't recall ever having seen him make one bonhead play. He was always in there, all the time, on his toes, playing the game."

Mack believes baseball in Japan "has just started." But thinks a world championship game or series between the United States and Japan "may become a fixture within ten years."

Motorists Are Given Warning On Driving Rule

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 12.—Motor vehicle drivers were reminded today by the California Highway Patrol that it is unlawful to pass a vehicle on its right side any place but on a city street where there are two or more lanes of traffic going in the same direction.

Passing on the right on a state or county highway outside of the incorporated areas is strictly forbidden.

Several accidents have occurred in recent weeks, it was stated by Chief E. Raymond Gato, because of infractions of this law.

"It is always dangerous to pass another car on the right," said a bulletin issued by the patrol.

Authority to pass on the right only on city streets is given in Section 125c of the California Vehicle Act as follows:

In the event two or more vehicles on a street or highway are moving in the same direction in two or more parallel lanes, whether marked or unmarked, upon the right half of the paved portion of a city street having space for two or more lanes of traffic in each direction, the provisions of subdivision (a) and (b) of this section shall not be considered as prohibiting the vehicles in one such lane overtaking or passing the vehicles in another such lane either upon the right or the left.

Radio Aids In Rescue Of Man In Plane Crash

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 12.—

(UP)—Radio today again proved its worth to airplane transportation when it furnished the means by which Jack Frye, president of Transcontinental Western Air, Inc., guided rescuers after he made a forced landing.

Frye, flying alone in his private plane from Kansas City to the West Coast, was forced down last night near Deep Lake, N. M., and radioed the news to the TWA station at Albuquerque. At daybreak, A. D. Smith, TWA pilot, started out to locate Frye. A few hours later, Frye radioed that Smith's plane had passed overhead. With this information Smith was able to land near Frye and bring him out, it was said. The location is northeast of Gallup.

During the holiday season, Mr. Jerome presented the Community Chest Committee with an order for five hundred pairs of shoes to be given the poor children of the county, just as he has done each year since the opening of the El Cerrito Kennel Club.

The letter follows:

POLO OFFICERS FIX HANDICAPS AT BUSY MEET

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—UP—The most wholesale use of the minus sign the game has known in recent years will be made here Monday when the handicaps committee of the United States Polo Association holds its annual meeting.

While nobody really knows what the mallet fathers are contemplating, Meadow Brook and Sands Point are buzzing with reports of drastic reductions. Most polo men believe that when, on Tuesday, the rankings are made public, the 1935 list will contain only one ten-footer.

He, of course, will be Winston Guest. One very elegant reason for raising Guest to ten goals is that he played ten-goal polo in the thrilling East-West series. Not so some of his colleagues, and members of the handicaps committee are known to be somewhat irked over the fact that some of the most highly ranked players performed so poorly.

Guest was rated at eight goals last year in the ranking list which was topped by Tommy Hitchcock, Jr., (Ced Smith and Elmer Borske, all at ten).

How much these three will be reduced is anybody's guess. It's barely possible that eight will be the most for any of the trio.

There were no nine-footers last year, but it's probable that there will be at least one in 1935. Jimmy Mills, who played so brilliantly for the East, is definitely slated for an increase, and may go from eight to nine, or might even receive the coveted ten-goal status along with Guest.

LOBBYISTS FOR INFLATION ARE GETTING READY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12. (UP)—Currency inflation lobby headquarters have been established here in adjacent hotels for the Townsend Old Age Pension Plan and for Father Charles E. Coughlin, Detroit radio priest.

Louis Ward, Father Coughlin's representative, operates from a hotel between the White House and the Capitol.

TOWNSEND PRESENT

At another hotel, five blocks distant, may be found Dr. Francis E. Townsend, California doctor who claims 25,000,000 followers who have every individual over 60 years of age should receive from the government $200 a month.

Membership in Father Coughlin's National Union for Social Justice is estimated more modestly at upwards of 500,000.

AWAIT RESULTS

Both lobbies are expected to be factors of importance in the recovery deliberations of the 75th Congress. But New Dealers hope early enactment of President Roosevelt's social security program—including old age pensions—will lead to early disintegration of the Townsend pension army.

Practical politicians believe Father Coughlin to be a more effective campaigner than Townsend despite the amazing speed of the latter's $200-a-month zepel from California eastward. The priest's Sunday radio sermons are reported here to be attracting millions of listeners.

TO MAKE SURVEY

Ward left last night for Detroit after a preliminary survey of the congressional situation. He will confer with Father Coughlin and return to Washington early next week as Congress begins the task of translating into law the recovery program proposed in President Roosevelt's annual message.

Outlines of Father Coughlin's monetary plans are fairly definite: Abandon the issue of interest bearing Federal bonds. Further devalue the dollar. Congressional leaders are concerned by the demonstrated effectiveness of Father Coughlin's broadcast efforts.

19 Moro Boys Run Amuck At State School

MANILA, P. I., Jan. 12.—Nine teen Moro students at Willard Strait Agricultural School ran amuck today, cowed their teachers, tortured one and rampaged thru the school near Jolo in the southern Philippines, dispatches to the newspaper La Bahaguia said today.

Order was restored by police, wielding shotguns, Juan Mercado, 32-year-old Filipino teacher, and the object of the student riot, was unconscious when officers arrived. The school's chief patron, Mrs. Lillard Spencer of New York, is now in Jolo.

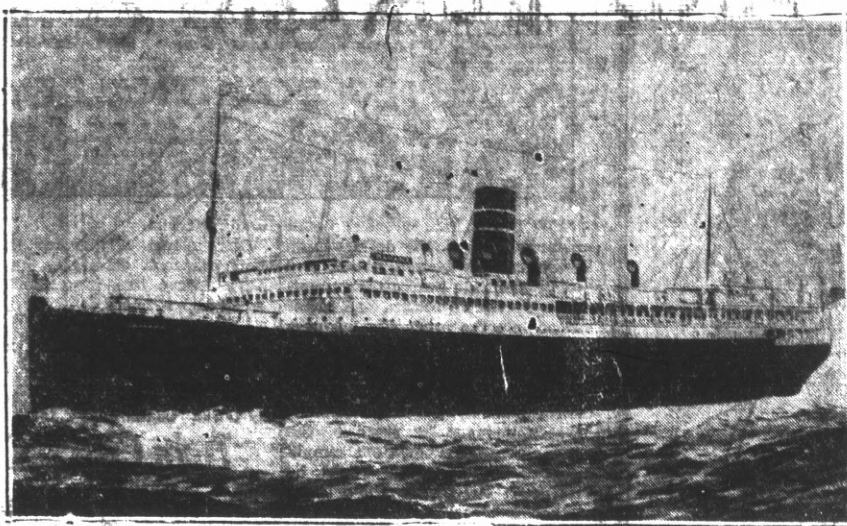

Reportedly incensed by Mercado's scolding, the temperamental Moros went on the warpath through the school building, after much the same fashion as their fathers frequently do in Jolo jungles.

Jury Pondering $100,000 Heart Balm Court Suit

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Under orders to return a sealed verdict for delivery Monday morning, a Supreme Court jury today began deliberating the $100,000 heart balm suit against Theodore P. Lawler, president of the Flushing National Bank, on which evidence has been taken before Justice Aaron J. Levy since last Monday.

Ambrose B. Travers, broker, based his suit chiefly on a letter written him by his artist wife, Mrs. Helen Travers, just before she committed suicide on May 22, 1931. In the letter Mrs. Travers confessed infidelity with the banker and said he affected her "like a drug."

S. P. Provides Hotel Rail Cars For Mexico Tour

Already recognized by experienced travelers as one of the world's most picturesque lands, Mexico promises to become a greater attraction for tourists as a result of the inauguration of air-conditioned "Hotel Car Cruises" over rail lines of the Southern Pacific National Railways of Mexico and the Southern Pacific of Mexico.

This prediction was made today by railroad traffic officials in announcing the novel excursions, which are now scheduled to leave El Paso and Tucson every Monday. Connections from the east and south are made at El Paso or Tucson, and from the west at Tucson.

The itinerary of the tour has been mapped with great care, and in addition to Mexico City, includes Tijuana, Tlalaxcala, Guanajuato, Guadalajara, and Mazatlan. Further Mexico at Nogales and returning via El Paso, the land cruises takes about three weeks, including eight days in Mexico City, or a longer stay may be made in the capital city.

The tourist makes his home in the Pullman "hotel on wheels." It was explained, the air-conditioned cars have berths, kitchen, dining room and lounge, and a Pullman conductor who speaks English and Spanish, to smooth the way, giving the traveler maximum comfort.

The tour has been planned at very reasonable cost, it was stated, and at all over-night stops, except in Mexico City, passengers may sleep and have their meals in the Pullman car instead of going to a hotel.

BOARD AWAITS BRENNAN SUIT TO KEEP POST

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 12. (UP)—When Attorney General C. E. Webb's recent decision was hailed by Thomas M. Foley as settling his dispute with John P. Brennan on the Foley over the chairmanship of the Veterans Welfare Board, it delayed today that other members of the board in withholding recognition of Foley's right to the post until the outcome of a court battle to be launched here by Brennan on Tuesday.

Foley will file a mandamus suit against State Controller Ray L. Block, asking that the controller be compelled to pay him his December salary as chairman of the Veterans Welfare Board.

Attorneys for Brennan will attempt to establish that Brennan did not resign the chairmanship of the board when the late Governor Ralph appointed him to a new term as board member. Webb's opinion that the chairmanship was vacant when Governor Merriam named Foley to it was based on the assumed resignation of Brennan. Attaches of the Governor's office have been unable to find the resignation and Brennan insists it doesn't exist.

Brennan's counsel maintains that the only legal effect of the Webb decision was to deny the application for leave to institute quo warranto proceedings, thus forcing the mandamus suit against Riley as the next quickest way to get a court decision on who holds the job.

Hunger Strikers In Clashes With Paris Officers

PARIS, Jan. 12. Twelve hundred Communist hunger marchers converging upon Paris with cries for overcoats and an increased dole were defeated in a clash with police today during the season's first snow storm.

The Communists were soon dispersed by a wall of steel-helmeted mobile guards near the city gates. A column of demonstrators from the west broke ranks and trickled into the city in groups to attend three mass meetings this afternoon.

Police barred the way of small or columns from other directions. The demonstrators engaged in a general scuffle with the gendarmes but found themselves no match for their well-fed opponents.

Quickly dispersed, the Communists said they would make another attempt to enter the city later today after they had been reinforced by additional marchers from the neighboring department of Seine-et-Oise.

South American Problems Vex League Nations

GENEVA, Jan. 12. (UP)—Two South American problems vexed the League of Nations today when the Leticia question bobbed up again beside the Chaco war.

Colombia's failure to ratify the Upper Amazon accord was brought to the League's attention by Peru, while Paraguay reaffirmed her refusal to accept the assembly's plan to settle the territorial dispute with Bolivia.

The League's special Chaco committee is scheduled to meet Monday to consider the situation arising from the belligerents' replies, while the council's Leticia committee will discuss that question Tuesday.

Ex-President Returns From Chicago Trip

PALO ALTO, Jan. 12.—Former President Herbert C. Hoover and his secretary, Paul Saxon, returned this morning from a business visit in Chicago, where the former president went on "a private business mission."

There was no political significance to the trip, Saxon said. The Hoovers are expecting as house guests later this month Mr. and Mrs. Edgar McKee of New York, who are now en route to San Francisco, via the Panama Canal.

STOCK MARKET STICK NERVOUS OVER HEARING

NEW YORK, Jan. 12. (UP)—The Gold Clause case before the Supreme Court continued to unsettle financial markets today with most traders predicting nervous markets until decision is made.

Today's opening was irregularly lower. Rails were down and heavy New York Central dropping to a new low for 1934-35 at 13 1/4. And toward the close there was a little comeback in most issues, although all averages were lower. Bond trading was fairly heavy but late selling carried most prices down, even to U. S. Governments. Commodities generally were easier.

The extreme nervousness which Wall Street worked up Friday over the gold clause and possibility of the supreme court ruling against Congress' abrogation of gold payments, appeared to have disappeared today, although there was trading hesitancy until the court decision is made. Many brokers and traders believed that early fears of the judiciary going against Congress' action were unfounded. Ed to his appeared in morning paper pointing out that questioning by Chief Justice Hughes—his pertinent remarks leading to the heavy selling Friday—could not be considered significant as to the final outcome of the cases. This feeling generated through the financial district.

But no one had sufficient confidence to reenter on long term buying and no such buying is expected to develop immediately.

"BRIGHT EYES" THE FEATURE AT FOX TODAY

Shirley Temple opens at the Fox today in "Bright Eyes" on a great program that also includes Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy in their latest comedy, "Them Thar Hills," a Popeye the Sailor cartoon comic, and Pete Smith Sportlaugh.

"Bright Eyes" is the story of a little girl, robbed of her mother and father, who is adopted by the boys of the airport.

Jimmy Dunn, ace pilot, becomes the child's "ace daddy." The flyers give Shirley a Christmas party that supplies the story with a joyous highlight. It is said, A rapid-fire climax is based upon a flight during a storm, and a lovers' quarrel rectified.

Other players seen in support of Shirley and Dunn include Jane "Sailor" Darwell, Charles Sellon, Lois Wilson, Judith Allen and Jane Withers.

A group of short features in keeping with the spirit of the season will be seen as added attractions.

Roosevelt Will Use Large Sum To Double CCC

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(UP)—President Roosevelt plans to use $700,000,000 of his projected $4,000,000,000 work relief funds to build up the CCC to a strength of 700,000 men. Congressional sources close to the administration said today.

This plan to double the size of the CCC is an integral part of the President's new work program. Approximately 350,000 youths and war veterans now are engaged in emergency conservation work at an estimated cost to the government for the present fiscal year of $402,000,000.

It was understood the expansion of the CCC would be designed largely to clear the streets of cities of the vast army of "deserving transients."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Plans for assembling the greatest naval armada in history for maneuvers in the Pacific next Summer are not greeted with enthusiasm in State Department circles. Reason is the reaction on Japan. The demonstration was sold to the President by his cousin, Assistant Naval Secretary Harry Roosevelt, as a show of American naval might, following Japanese abrogation of the naval treaties. It is to be in emulation of Teddy Roosevelt's move in shaking the Big Stick at Japan by sending the American fleet around the world. This time, however, one important factor is missing. In Teddy Roosevelt's day the British had important influence with Japan, warned Tokyo to play ball with the U. S. A. Now, however, British influence is hardly greater than ours.

Friends of the President marveled at the strength he showed during the opening days of Congress. For almost ten straight hours before it opened he worked over his address. That night he stood for two hours while more than a thousand people shook hands at the White House diplomatic reception. Next morning he delivered his address. The day following he held an hour and a half conference to explain the budget to the press. Only when he had to stand during the diplomatic reception did the President show any effects of the strain.

NO TREATY

Among Senate Democratic floor leaders there is considerable private doubt that a St. Lawrence waterway treaty will be taken up at this session. They are saying that the Canadian government is displaying a lukewarm attitude in negotiating a new pact and a new agreement may not be concluded in time for action this year.

Pennsylvania's Democratic boss Joe Guffey is losing no time in making Senate history. First he obtained the prize office suite of his veteran Republican predecessor, an unprecedented feat. Then he capped this by the even more remarkable attainment of a place on the powerful finance committee. For a two-weeks old first term this is an extraordinary record.

Speaker Joe Byrns once had his bushy eye-brows shaved off by a practical-joking barber. Joe retaliated by refusing to pay for his shave.

Since the Securities Exchange Commission assumed control over security trading last October five exchanges have gone out of business. All of them minor markets.

Ohio's rookie Senator "Honest Vic" Donahey is one man who insists on taking presidential messages at his ease. When the President delivered his annual message to Congress, Donahey remained in his hotel room and listened to it over the radio.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

Even before the new Supreme Court building is finished, it has been washed. Smoke from soft coal, burned in adjacent homes, has brought a deposit of smut to the chaste white marble. There are 4,000 lawyers in the District of Columbia, more per capita than in any other city in the country. Due to the indeterminate tenure of jobs secured by political influence work in the Federal Housing Administration is known as the "ninety-day grind." Determined to preserve the gold standard in one form or another, old-time Treasury officials have caused a gleaming coat of gilt to be painted on the Corinthian columns of the Treasury building corridors. It is a daily lengthening line of men who stand in the vacant lot near Second Street and Pennsylvania Avenue waiting for a nod at the Transient Bureau restaurant. The President has received a letter addressed, "Mr. Theodor Roosevelt" and another to "The Governor of the United States." The wrecking business is active in Washington. The war-time buildings in the triangle at Eighteenth Street and Constitution Avenue are being demolished, to be replaced by a new administration building for the Pan-American Union. The entire block bounded by First Street, Pennsylvania Avenue, Second Street, and Constitution Avenue has been razed, to create a park on the site once occupied by "flop-houses" beer saloons and bus offices in the shadow of the Capitol. On the desk of Oil Administrator Ickes is a miniature filling station, in tin. While the Senate debates Senator Black's bill for a thirty hour week, men are at work within a stone's throw on the new Supreme Court building at wages as low as $20 for a week's work of 84 hours. The Census Bureau finds there are five counties in the United States which are so sparsely populated they have no county organization. All five are in South Dakota.

NEW YORK INSIDE OUT By DON O'MALLEY

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—The corner grocer who sinks fifty dollars in an investment of canned goods, and then worries his head off about getting a profitable return, had better not go into the producing business on Broadway.

If he does, he's liable to suffer a heart attack long before the first curtain ever rises. For the amount of money earned by some of the more elaborate productions simply to get things started would be enough to buy out a whole chain of grocery stores, with enough left over to take in a couple of extra garages on the side.

For example, look at Max For don, whose "The Great Waltz" opened several months ago at the Center Theatre in Radio City. To remodel the playhouse for legitimate attractions, and to assemble the huge, waltz-time spectacle for presentation, Max and his various backing interests had to pump down $256,000. It was estimated before the premiere that it would require seventeen weeks of capacity business merely to clear the initial cost of the production and to pay the running expenses. Actually it took twenty-three weeks to do this, even though the show averaged $11,000 in weekly gross.

Max was wily enough to gauge the drawing power of his show correctly, and the current receipts are now so much gravy. But think of all the sleepless nights a guy has to go through before he can get to the profit side.

OUT THE DOUGH

Sometimes no amount of pleading with facts and figures can ever pull a show out of the red. Katharine Cornell's current production of "Romeo and Juliet," which won a very laudatory reception from public and press, is slated for a loss of $80,000 even if it sells out, house every night.

The recently Katharine billed the show for a limited engagement of four and a half weeks. If she sells every seat, she still loses $10,000 during the run. The other forty grand disappeared last year when she put together a trial version of Shakespeare's classic for the Western cities. That version was scrapped and stored away, and a new investment was necessary for the

Charges Hurdled In Conspiracy Trial In East

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Counsel for Arthur W. Cullen today charged Leslie A. Fitz, representative of the Grain Futures Administration at Chicago, with responsibility for the failure of the millionaire grain broker to report his dealings during 1930.

Orville Taylor, defending Cullen against charges of conspiracy and collusion in violation of Federal grain trading regulations, made the statement, saying: "A word from Fitz would have prevented this whole unfortunate situation."

He added that the government supervisor of the Chicago Board of Trade was "negligent" in failing to notify Cullen that reports should be made.

The white haired Chicago operator appeared before the Grain Futures Administration.

EXPERT TROVE HUNTER

COLUMBIA, Mo.—(UP)—Robert B. Miles, negro professional treasure hunter, now trying to locate a buried treasure near here, has received 185 letters from persons throughout the United States seeking his help in locating treasures said to be hidden in various parts of the country. Miles replied that his present job was occupying too much of his time to assist in any other expeditions.

Patricia Burke, an American girl stranded in Rome, goes to the little village of Marvella to seek the job of governess for the Countess Dei Sari's child. Dirk Waters, a young American writer, mysteriously warns her against the Dei Sari, and she hears rumors that the Countess is "queer." But when she meets Sergio Dei Sari, son of Count Dei Sari by a previous marriage, she likes him. She is mystified, however, when the Countess, who is a very beautiful woman, is acting very frightened, gives her a letter to be mailed to a Dr. Jarvis Melville. Pat wonders where she has heard that name before.

CHAPTER XI

The rest of the day passed quietly. Pat spent the afternoon reading. In the evening, to her great surprise and to Dirk's disgust, one of the other guests at the hotel asked her to make a fourth at bridge. She accepted, more than delighted to take part in something definitely normal and sane. Afterwards, she went to bed with a feeling that she had regained her sense of balance.

The next morning, after breakfast, Dirk excused himself to finish the last chapter of his book, and Pat found herself at loose ends. She had seen almost all of Marvella and all of the hotel, but she had not yet finished a book. But it was not a very interesting book and she dozed a little in the sunshine, wondering vaguely what the other guests in the hotel could find to do and hoping that her friends of last night would appear.

She was quite sociable by nature and, above all, she didn't want to think. She didn't like mystery, and she didn't like being surrounded by her friends of last night, who were so mysterious.

She was quite sociable by nature and, above all, she didn't want to think. She didn't like mystery, and she didn't like being surrounded by her friends of last night, who were so mysterious.

It was a relief when she saw Sergio Dei Sari appear on the terrace. "A great many thanks," he pressed. "He is one of those fellows who can't mind his own business—although, in Waters' case, his business depends a great deal on other people's."

"All alone?" he said, with a little laugh. "What poor taste your friends have."

Pat smiled. "I haven't any friends."

"Then the world must be coming to an end. May I?" He looked inquiringly at the empty chair beside hers.

She made a little motion with her hand. "Please. I was bored to death."

He sat down and lit a cigarette. "How did you like my step-mother?" he asked unexpectedly, then added, as an afterthought, "She's English, you know."

Pat answered evasively. "I think she's very beautiful."

"And a lovely woman." Sergio said casually, blowing smoke rings. "Too bad she is so hysterical. It worries Father a lot."

"Naturally," Pat murmured, feeling embarrassed.

"Gets tragic ideas, you know. It's all very distressing."

PAT smiled faintly. Sergio sounded too matter-of-fact to be really very much distressed. Catching her smile, he understood what she was thinking and nodded.

"I don't like to brood over things," he admitted. "We've got to accept life as it is."

A pretty easy life his was, she thought to herself. People who had never been without money didn't know what real worry was.

Attendants rushed from the same hangar to which Sir Charles and Captain R. G. Taylor taxied after their recent flight from Australia via the Fiji Islands and Honolulu.

POLICE WORRIED

Some of the crowd had broken police lines and the pilot appeared worried; fearful that the huge plane or its flying propeller would cause injury to some enthusiastic member of the welcoming horde.

Miss Earhart was clad in a typical flying suit—brown and lined with fur. The crowd laughed and cheered when she became testily feminine and could be seen powdering her nose before standing up to full view.

It was estimated that 3,000 members of the huge crowd broke from control of police and surrounded the plane. Hats were thrown into the air and a continued cheering made it difficult for newspapermen and others nearby to hear Miss Earhart. Her hearing appeared affected somewhat from the long hours over the Pacific.

The flier did not seem to be tired. She leaped nimbly to the ground when the plane finally was halted. Flowers from Oakland officials and admiring Californians started to shower about the youthful, slender woman who now had conquered both the Atlantic and Pacific oceans in solo flying.

WEATHER GOOD

Sirens added to the din at the airport. Miss Earhart, who had refused to become flustered and who talked calmly to land radio stations when she was feared lost in an off-circuit fog bank, seemed to want to "tidy up" before facing cameras. After applying powder to her nose, she tried to comb her curly hair.

"The weather was mostly good," Miss Earhart said, after she succeeded in pulling away from the milling crowd. "I had little trouble, although I encountered rain squalls. I flew at about 8,000 feet most of the way, and missed most of the fog. I think I have about one hour's gas supply left. I first saw land about 12:45 p. m. No, I haven't made up my mind yet whether I will stay here, or just refuel and continue."

"FEELS SWEET"

"I feel sweet. Never mind my hair."

She laughed and tossed her head. "It's always wind blown this way."

Miss Earhart walked into the Kinsford-Smith hangar behind her plane. About 3,000 people attempted to go with her, and perspiring Oakland police struggled with some of them. The police were more excited than Miss Earhart, who laughed at most of the situations which developed.

The flier, with approximately some 100 officials and newspaper men finally gained the hangar. The reporters pressed forward to interview her and some of them found themselves wrestling with members of the police force.

QUICK ACTION IS DEMANDED IN GOLD ROW

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12—Quick

congressional action to escape from what Administration spokesmen have called possible "chaos" was projected in Washington today as a likelihood should the Supreme Court overturn the Roosevelt monetary program in the "gold clause" cases.

Some—and they were not confined to those who merely speculate upon such problems—held that, regardless of the forthcoming verdict, the treasury could make no change in its present method of redeeming maturing government bonds until Congress so ordered.

Even though a probable month of suspense remains before the nine high justices hand down their decision, a gold issue was given to much of the news of the day. In Wall Street prices declined sharply, but later stiffened. There was a rush of "gold clause" bond buying, but the bond market generally was irregular. Grains again slumped but recovered.

Although officials would say nothing, and privately expressed confidence that the court would decide in favor of the government, the subject was gone into on Capitol Hill, especially among the inflationist bloc, and in administration quarters as well.

A decision against the government would mean, in short, that gold bonds and contracts would be worth—in present devaluated currency—169 per cent of their face value. The result would be to increase the outstanding public and private debt from around $100,000,000,000 to $169,000,000,000.

Sheriff Sounds Death Knell Of Slot Machines

MARTINEZ, Jan. 12—Slot machines in Contra Costa county must go.

This edict was issued today by Sheriff John A. Miller as he instructed his deputies to warn all owners of establishments in which slot machines are operated that they must be taken out.

"This is just in the nature of a 'sportsman's' chance," Sheriff Miller said. "The next time my men go around it will not be to issue warnings but to make arrests."

which they have incorporated into bills. And of them is an income tax, modeled after the national law, but with the rates lower, calculated to raise about $15,000,000. That is a nifty sum, but no great thing when put alongside of a $130,000,000 deficit. Recourse to other sources of revenue must be had and many suggestions have been made. The reason a flood of bills providing panaceas for our financial ills has not already been offered is that their authors await the sunset message of the governor; then will come the deluge.

BURDEN INCREASES

Social legislation introduced this early in the session places a heavy burden on employers and with additional laws reaching down into the pocketbooks of employers and individuals, certain to be enacted, there is going to be a tremendous demand for crying towels within a comparatively short time. And there will be real cause to weep, too, for thousands will find out for the first time what taxation that hurts means. There is a possibility also that these additional burdens will mean bankruptcy for many.

THANKLESS JOB

The men we send to the legislature have a hard and thankless task to perform and no one, I believe, envies them their job. It will require unusual ability and ingenuity to accomplish it, and I am afraid that no paucity of praise will crown their labors. And when the time comes to pay—the time that tests men's souls and pockets, books—remarks of a caustic and vitriolic nature are likely to fill the air.

LOOKING BACKWARD

What memories a small, apparently insignificant item will awaken! Mention of the famous fistie battle in which Battling Nelson lost his title to Ad Wolgast in the sporting column of a newspaper I chanced to read, recalls that I was one of the interested spectators who on a cold, blustery day, February 22, 1910, to be exact, sat on the bleachers and watched those two outstanding little fellows of pugilism hammer each other during an entire afternoon.

Before the 45 rounds had ended the sun had disappeared and it was hardly possible to see the valiant combatants in the ring. In the closing rounds both men were staggered around the squared canvas too weak to lift their arms, let alone deliver an effective blow. But at the end of the grueling contest both men were on their feet, and neither had been knocked down.

This fight, referred by G. B. Ed Smith is part of the early history of Point Richmond, not "Port" Richmond as the sports writer would have it.

PROBE OPENED IN ROBBERY OF BANK IN S. F.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 12—An investigation into the police trap that failed to catch Clyde Stevens, wanted gunman and bank robber, was launched today by Police Chief William J. Quinn, while he threw the entire department into a city-wide manhunt for the bandit and his unidentified companion.

The two men escaped yesterday afternoon with $625 in loot from the Polk and California Streets Branch of the American Trust Company—taken while two officers were on duty in the bank in anticipation of just such a holdup attempt.

CAR FOUND

Chief Quinn said he also wanted to know why the bullet-pierced automobile used by the robbers in the holdup happened to be found parked in plain view at Clinton and Valencia Streets this morning after his men had been searching for it for nearly 20 hours.

The car was owned by W. J. Bush, 211 California Street, and was stolen from a garage here in a holdup last Tuesday. The license plates had been changed, police said.

SHOTS FIRED

There were two bullet holes in the rear window of the car, but no bloodstain. Police said the shots apparently passed through the window and out through open side-windows without striking either occupant.

Captain of Inspectors Charles Dulles revealed details of the elaborate police trap that had been laid for Stevens.

IS MYSTIFIED

"We had men in plain clothes in every likely bank in the city," he said. "We knew Stevens' methods of operation and that we could expect a holdup when the car was stolen. Every man on the detail knew Stevens from his pictures. I cannot understand how the trap failed to work."

Federal Grand Jury Studies Kidnaping Case

TUCSON, Ariz., Jan. 12—(UP)—

The Federal Grand Jury today had deferred action in the case of Oscar Robson, local night club figure who is under arrest at Phoenix on charges of attempting to extort money from the father of Julia Robles, 6, local kidnap victim, last April. The jury postponed a decision after several government handwriting experts testified that Robson's handwriting was similar to that of a ransom note Fernando Robles received the day his daughter was abducted.

a man known as "Hager", and a fourth known to the prosecution only as "Carl". They were exceedingly friendly with Bruno Hauptmann, went to cafes with him, enjoyed country outings in his company, and frequently went on what Germans call "ein bummel"—an al fresco picnic party.

CASH PAID

"Carl" owned a small cobbler's shop. He wanted to sell it so he could return to Germany. Hager wanted to buy it, but had insufficient funds. Hauptmann, according to the mysterious "Carl," lent Hager the money and the transaction was closed.

The sum of $450 was paid and Carl went home to Germany.

Presently he had a visitor—Lieutenant Arthur Johnson of the New York police department. Johnson questioned him regarding his association with Hauptmann, and the frightened man, fearful of getting mixed up in the case, lied to him about his friendship.

SHOWN MONEY

As the week closed, with eight days of testimony now presented to the jury, the court has been given a picture of a man identified as Bruno Richard Hauptmann who climbed through the Lindbergh nursery window by means of a ladder, and departed, leaving blurred footprints behind him, with the son of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

The jury had been taken, fleetingly, through the muddy Sourdough Hills to the hastily scraped grave of Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., and from there led to two cemeteries in the Bronx where the kidnaper's negotiations for ransom money were begun and ended.

It has been shown $14,600 in ransom money, excavated from Hauptmann's garage floor and taken from secret hiding places.

Dr. John F. Condon, known to the world today as "Jafsky" proved all that, and was corroborated by Col. Henry C. Breckinridge, friend of Col. Lindbergh and an outstanding member of the bar of New York.

There the case stands tonight. Next week the parade of handwriting experts will begin, to follow Osborn and corroborate his conclusions.

PRICE FIXING DENIAL MADE BY OFFICER

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 12—(UP)

C. S. Morse, acting chairman of the California Rice Control Committee today denied that Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace has signed an emergency amendment to the California Rice Marketing Agreement, establishing definite prices for the state's estimated 500,000 bag 1934 crop surplus.

Morse said reports carried by news agencies other than the United Press, quoting prices which would be paid for 1934 rice designated as surplus, had drawn wide protests from rice growers, including many in Honolulu.

He said he had been in communication with Washington today and had learned Wallace had signed only one of two emergency amendments submitted to him after AAA hearings here early in December. The approved measure provides for distribution of a trust fund on a monthly basis to growers who have curtailed crops and are otherwise entitled to returns from the fund.

He explained that price provisions and other details of the surplus disposal program would not be decided by signing of the agreement, but would be determined by the industry control committee after the agreement is signed.

Harry H. Creech, chairman of the committee, is on his way back from Honolulu. He is expected to draw minor amendments to the surplus control amendment, which will be submitted to Wallace, who thereafter, probably will sign the document, it was learned.

DALLAS, Texas, Jan. 12—UP—

Miss Peggy Dutton, 20, was killed today when a gunman emptied a pistol at her companion, George Ennis, 37, who was seriously wounded. He told police he believed the girl was the accidental victim of a revenge plot directed at him.

The slayer, whose name police did not immediately learn, drove his automobile alongside one in which Ennis and Miss Dutton were riding, and fired.
